

E-NEWSLETTER

December 2016

Dear Readers,

Please welcome the second issue of the latest innovation of the Faculty of Economics and Social Sciences of the Szent István University. By publishing a monthly newsletter, we wish to share the most important events and activities of the Faculty in each month and inform you about the coming events. On behalf of the editors, we hope that you will enjoy it. Please feel free to share news and photos with us about the events by sending them to the International Office.

On 2nd of December, some of our master students (Rural development and agribusiness course) took part in a field trip to a family farm in Sárkeszi, managed by one of our former PhD student's family.

The aim of this trip was to get an overview how a diversified family farm operates in Hungary and get to know more about the conditions of agricultural farming in the country.

In the first two weeks of December, over 400 students graduated successfully at bachelor and master level. Based on the feedbacks from the graduation board members, students were very well-prepared and performed well at the exams.

On 17 December, the most important event of the semester, the „harvest time”, i.e. the official graduation ceremony took place in the Aula, with the participation of hundreds of happy graduates and thousands of friends and family members.

It is followed by the well-deserved holiday for students and teachers until 1 January.

Good luck for everyone in the exam period!

Practical information:

- 30 January – 5 February registration week, when students have to register for the semester and the subjects.
- Spring semester will start on 6 February.

Please keep the deadlines and check the gtk.sziu.hu website for the spring semester schedules.
