Interactive English lesson at Petőfi Sándor Primary School in Gödöllő

On 7 May 2019 we visited Petőfi Sándor Primary School in Gödöllő with 8 international students. The students were from Sudan, India, Ghana, Pakistan, Ecuador and from Kyrgyzstan.

This school visit was the second stop in the new project of the Faculty of Economics and Social Sciences.

The aim of the project is on the one hand to offer primary and secondary school students the opportunity to meet our foreign students, to talk to them and to get to know each other's culture better, while on the other hand our main concern is to help children be more sensitive and open towards other cultures and traditions. During class our university students presented their countries, sat among the grammar school students, talked about their culture and simply had conversations with the students. It was fun 😊.

The project of Intercultural Meetings continued

On 21 May 2019 enthusiastic foreign students from the Faculty of Economics and Social Sciences visited Hajós Alfréd Primary School in Gödöllő. Our students delivered fantastic presentations to school kids about their countries and traditions. We had colourful presentations about India, Pakistan and Russia. Primary school students were open to learn about other cultures and traditions. This project will continue from the next semester. Thank you for the all the participants.

Practical information

- The official graduation ceremony of the faculty will take place on 15th June 2019 from 10 a.m. in the Aula. Anyone can come, you do not need an invitation, so I would encourage all those who are interested to come and celebrate together with the graduating students.
- Summer will also be important for us because we are dealing with the new applications. The staff of the international office works hard to evaluate the applicants to be able to admit all the applicants who meet the admission requirements. On behalf of the faculty members, we wish you a nice summer holiday with full of exciting trips!
